What is the possible reason? Is there any way to fix this problem? A: After about 5 hours I was able to fix it. First we had to download and install the latest version of Windows and the HP Disk Management Utility The Windows installation created the Recovery Partition, so we had to delete it Recovery and System Partition, Removable Storage and SSD from C: then we had to format it to NTFS (didn't format yet)

---

Recovery and System Partition, Removable Storage and SSD from C: we had to copy to D: with Disk Copy Booted from D: and removed the installation files from C: Updated all the drivers in Device Manager Started the installation without the CD/DVD (in my case the firmware files were not on it, and the installation doesn't start when running the CD/DVD) We couldn't boot in WINDOWS 7 after that. To solve this we had to boot from the Windows 7 installation CD/DVD, chose Repair, and boot from the installer and then choose "Install Windows", only then we would be allowed to boot in WINDOWS 7. Q: How to calculate average of share price? I have two variables where one is the share price of a company and the other is the value of the company. How do I calculate the average share price of all companies within a company? sample data: a 0cc13bf012
